EDINBURGH

*Beautiful city of Edinburgh!
Where the tourist can drown his sorrow
By viewing your monuments and statues fine
During the lovely summer-time.
I'm sure it will his spirits cheer
As Sir Walter Scott's monument he draws near,
That stands in East Prince's Street
Amongst flowery gardens, fine and neat.*

*And Edinburgh Castle is magnificent to be seen
With its beautiful walks and trees so green,
Which seems like a fairy dell;
And near by its rocky basement is St Margaret's Well,
Where the tourist can drink at when he feels dry,
And view the castle from beneath so very high,
Which seems almost towering to the sky.*

This piece of cheese taken from "Edinburgh" by Sir William Topaz McGonagall, widely regarded as the world's worst poet (or perhaps a misunderstood wit?). He is buried here in Greyfriars Kirk and about his birth he wrote "My Dear Readers of this autobiography, which I am the author of, I beg leave to inform you that I was born in Edinburgh."
